Clayton Miller Earns Capital One/CoSIDA Academic All-America Baseball Honors

Posted: Jun 01, 2012

SAVANNAH, Ga. - Armstrong Atlantic State University sophomore Clayton Miller has been named to the 2012 Capital One/CoSIDA Academic All-American Division II Baseball team, released this week by the organization.

Miller, who was named to the third team as a designated hitter, carries a 3.37 GPA in rehabilitation sciences. The Augusta, Ga., native hit .287 with one home run and 27 RBIs in 2012, helping Armstrong capture the Peach Belt Conference regular season and tournament titles.

Miller is the fourth Armstrong baseball player to earn Academic All-America honors from Capital One and CoSIDA, joining catchers Chris Milisits (1993), David Harriman (2002) and Michael Pelley (2004). He is also the fourth Academic All-America this year among Armstrong student-athletes and brings the all-time total of Pirates who have earned Academic All-America honors to 14.

One of four Peach Belt players to earn the honor, Miller joins UNC Pembroke's Josh Haley and Eitan Maoz, as well as Francis Marion's Buddie Sosnoskie on the Academic All-America team for 2012.
